```
age <- c(34, 28, 22, 36, 27, 18, 52, 39, 42, 29, 35, 31, 27, 22, 37, 34, 19, 20, 57, 49, 50, 37, 46, 25, 17, 37, 42, 53, 41, 51, 35, 24, 33, 41)
a. How many data points? - 34
b.
length(age)
[1] 34
2
reciprocal <- 1/age reciprocal
[1] 0.02941176 0.03571429 0.04545455 0.02777778 0.03703704 0.05555556
[7] 0.01923077 0.02564103 0.02380952 0.03448276 0.02857143 0.03225806
[13] 0.03703704 0.04545455 0.02702703 0.02941176 0.05263158 0.05000000
[19] 0.01754386 0.02040816 0.02000000 0.02702703 0.02173913 0.04000000
[25] 0.05882353 0.02702703 0.02380952 0.01886792 0.02439024 0.01960784
[31] 0.02857143 0.04166667 0.03030303 0.02439024
3
new_age <- c(age, 0, age)</pre> new_age
[1] 34 28 22 36 27 18 52 39 42 29 35 31 27 22 37 34 19 20 57 49 50 37 46 25 17
[26] 37 42 53 41 51 35 24 33 41 0 34 28 22 36 27 18 52 39 42 29 35 31 27 22 37
[51] 34 19 20 57 49 50 37 46 25 17 37 42 53 41 51 35 24 33 41
What happen to the new_age? -
The new_age vector contains 2 age vector values seperated by 0
4 sorted_age <- sort(age)</pre> sorted_age
[1] 17 18 19 20 22 22 24 25 27 27 28 29 31 33 34 34 35 35 36 37 37 37 39 41 41
[26] 42 42 46 49 50 51 52 53 57
5
min_age <- min(age)</pre> min_age
[1] 17
max_age <- max(age)</pre>
max_age
[1] 57
6
data <- c(2.4, 2.8, 2.1, 2.5, 2.4, 2.2, 2.5, 2.3, 2.5, 2.3, 2.4, 2.7)
a. How many data points? - 12
b.
length(data)
```

[1] 12

```
7
doubled_data <- data * 2</pre> doubled data
[1] 4.8 5.6 4.2 5.0 4.8 4.4 5.0 4.6 5.0 4.6 4.8 5.4
What happen to the data? -
The values in data is doubled
8
8.1
integers <- seq(1:100)</pre> integers
                              6
                                  7
                                                                              18
##
     [1]
         1
              2
                 3
                       4
                           5
                                      8 9 10
                                                  11 12 13 14 15 16
                                                                         17
##
   [19]
         19 20 21
                     22 23
                             24 25
                                      26 27
                                              28
                                                  29
                                                      30
                                                          31
                                                              32
                                                                  33
                                                                      34
                                                                          35
                                                                              36
[37] 37 38 39 40 41
                             42 43
                                     44 45
                                              46
                                                  47
                                                      48
                                                         49
                                                             50
                                                                  51 52
                                                                         53
                                                                              54
                                                                              72
[55] 55
            56 57
                     58
                         59
                              60
                                  61
                                      62
                                          63
                                              64
                                                  65
                                                      66
                                                          67
                                                              68
                                                                  69
                                                                      70
                                                                         71
[73]
         73
            74 75
                     76 77
                             78 79
                                     80
                                         81 82
                                                  83 84 85 86 87
                                                                     88
                                                                         89
                                                                              90
[91] 91
             92 93 94 95 96 97
                                     98 99 100
8.2
numbers \leftarrow seq(20, 60)
numbers
[1] 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44
[26] 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60
8.3
mean_numbers <- mean(numbers)</pre> mean numbers
[1] 40 sum_integers <- sum(integers[51:91])</pre> sum_integers
[1] 2911
8.5
integers_2 <- seq(1:1000)
a. How many data points from 8.1 to 8.4? - 143
length(integers) + length(numbers) + length(mean_numbers) + length(sum_integers)
[1] 143
c.
data_point <- integers_2[1:10]</pre> max_data_point <- max(data_point)</pre> max_data_point
[1] 10
9
filtered_integers <- Filter(function(i) { all(i %% c(3,5,7) != 0) }, seq(100)) filtered_integers
[1] 1 2 4 8 11 13 16 17 19 22 23 26 29 31 32 34 37 38 41 43 44 46 47 52 53
```

```
[26] 58 59 61 62 64 67 68 71 73 74 76 79 82 83 86 88 89 92 94 97
10 backwards integers <- sort(integers, decreasing = TRUE)</pre> backwards_integers
                     97
                                                     89
##
     [1] 100 99 98
                         96
                             95 94
                                     93 92 91
                                                         88 87
                                                                 86
                                                                     85
                                                                        84
                                                                             83
                                                 90
##
    [19] 82 81
                 80
                     79
                         78
                             77
                                 76
                                     75
                                         74
                                             73
                                                 72
                                                     71
                                                         70
                                                            69
                                                                 68
                                                                     67
                                                                         66
                                                                             65
##
  [37] 64 63 62 61
                         60
                             59 58
                                     57
                                         56
                                            55
                                                 54
                                                     53
                                                         52 51
                                                                 50
                                                                     49
                                                                         48
                                                                             47
[55] 46 45 44 43
                        42
                             41
                                40
                                     39
                                        38
                                            37
                                                 36
                                                     35
                                                         34 33 32
                                                                     31
                                                                         30
                                                                             29
[73] 28 27
                 26
                     25
                         24
                             23
                                 22
                                     21 20
                                            19
                                                 18 17 16 15 14 13 12 11
[91] 10
                  8
                      7
                          6
                              5
                                  4
                                      3
                                          2
11
numbers_2 <- 1:24
multiples <- numbers_2[numbers_2 %% 3 == 0 | numbers_2 %% 5 == 0]
multiples
[1] 3 5 6 9 10 12 15 18 20 21 24
sum_multiples <- sum(multiples)</pre> sum_multiples
[1] 143
a. How many data points from 10 to 11? - 111
12
x < - \{0 + x + 5 + \}
Describe the output -
There is no output because the syntax is incorrect
score <- c(72, 86, 92, 63, 88, 89, 91, 92, 75, 75, 77) score1 <- score[2]</pre> score1
[1] 86
score2<- score[3]</pre> score2
[1] 92
14
a = c(1,2,NA,4,NA,6,7)
print(a,na.print="999")
[1]
            2 999
        1 4 999
b. Describe the output. -
The values NA from the vector a got replaced by 999 in the output
15
```

```
name = readline(prompt="Input your name: ")
```

```
Input your name:
age = readline(prompt="Input your age: ")

Input your age:
print(paste("My name is",name, "and I am",age ,"years old."))

[1] "My name is and I am years old."
print(R.version.string)

[1] "R version 4.4.1 (2024-06-14)"
```